Early Returns In Iowa Primary Show Dickinson Winner

Has Clear Majority for Senatorship, Says Report

TURNER IN GOV. RACE

Seven Sitting Republican Congressmen Have No Opposition

DES MOINES, June 3.—(AP)—Congressman L. J. Dickinson after 811 of the state's 2,433 precincts had reported in the primary election late last night had almost 56 per cent of the total vote cast for the Republican senatorial nomination.

He polled 68,932 votes; Gov. John Hammill, 37,692; Frank J. Lund and W. O. Payne trailed with 13,150 and 3,420 respectively.

Congressman Dickinson's total on the basis of returns was more than the 35 per cent of the total vote required for nomination. Late tonight he issued the following statement: "It is with sincere appreciation and a deep sense of obligation that I accept the mandate of my fellow Republican."

In the race for governor, Dan W. Turner had an even larger lead with 32,326 votes or 62.2 per cent of the total.

The Hawley-Smoot tariff bill was the principal issue.

Hammill opposed the tariff measure, contending that the bill favored industry at the expense of agriculture and argued that President Hoover was dissatisfied with the new rates.

Representative Dickinson, a farm leader in Congress, supported the new farm rates as being the highest obtainable.

Senator Daniel F. Steck, whom the winner will oppose in November, won the Democratic nomination without a contest.

A three cornered contest for the party's nomination for governor was to be decided almost solely on a proposed state income tax.

Dan W. Turner, of Carroll, supported the plan, which was assailed by his opponent, Otto Lange, of Dubuque, and Ed Smith, secretary of state.

Fred P. Hagemann of Waverly was nominated without opposition for governor by the Democrats, heading a single slate of candidates for state offices.

Seven sitting Republican congressmen had no opposition within their party. Of this group, Cyrus Cole, C. W. Ramseyer and C. C. Dowell will be unopposed by Democrats in the November election.

Policeman, Mistaken for Intruder, Fatally Shot

ABSECON, N. J., June 3.—(AP)—Chief of police William M. Schoefflin, aged 41, of Absecon, was shot and instantly killed here today when he was mistaken for an intruder while he was making an investigation at a disorderly house.

George Howard Much, 23, of Ventnor and Atlantic City, was arrested by state police, and was charged with the shooting. Three others, including two women are being held as material witnesses.

The shooting took place when Chief Schoefflin went to investigate a house in Absecon highland district on the outskirts of the city which was recently leased by Much.

Arkansas Professors to Lecture at Texas School

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., June 3.—(AP)—Three University of Arkansas professors will lecture at the University of Texas summer school, and another will give several courses at the University of Tennessee summer school, it was announced here.

Dr. George Hastings, professor of English, will give courses in American literature at Austin while Dr. C. L. Benson, professor of history and political science, will lecture on the French revolution and Dr. D. Y. Thomas, professor of history, and political science, will conduct a series of lectures on American diplomacy and the history of the American revolution at the Austin institution.

Three advanced courses in English-Shakespeare, literary criticism, and a survey course in English literature, will be given by Dr. Virgil L. Jones, dean of Arts and Sciences at the University, at the University of Tennessee summer school.

Dr. Benson will teach in the University of Arkansas summer school for a period before leaving for Austin.

Tar Victim Fails In Prosecution Effort

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—Dr. S. L. Newsum, dentist of Hammond, La., who was tarred and feathered last week by Ike G. Starns, Livingston merchant, who said the Tulane University graduate "broke up his home," failed Monday in his efforts to prosecute Starns in Federal District Court here.

This announcement was made by United States District Attorney Edmund E. Talbot after Dr. Newsum accompanied by B. M. Harvard, one of his lawyers, had held a conference with the district attorney behind closed doors.

In Thrilling Romance

Beautiful Dancer, Artists, Millionaire and Amnesia Victim Involved in Love Story

Colorful Greenwich Village... a charming young dancing girl and chum who had lost her memory... picturesque artists... a middle-aged millionaire who thought he could buy love.

Such is the background of a powerful, swift-moving story, called "Dancing Judith," which begins Wednesday, June 11th in the Hope Star.

This is the story of Judith Grant, a dancer, who couldn't find work on the stage and was forced to turn to modeling.

Clarissa Morley, who lost her memory when her sweetheart, Alan Steyne, disappeared, is Judith's chum.

Bastien Dumont, a poverty-stricken artist, and Bruce Gideon, a millionaire, who becomes Judith's patron, are other principal characters.

Unknown to Judith, the millionaire arranges for her to be starred on the stage. Judith becomes a celebrity. And then she discovers Gideon is trying to buy her love.

Written by Coralie Stanton and Heath Hosken. "Dancing Judith" is crammed with action and thrills. Don't miss it, beginning Wednesday, June 11th, in The Hope Star.

Taxpayers' Group Starts Petitions

Seven Proposed Amendments on List Circulated For Signatures

A representative of the Arkansas Taxpayers' association in Hope this week obtaining signatures on petitions circulating seven proposed amendments, which will be submitted to the voters at the general election in October.

N. P. Reed, agent of the association, told The Star yesterday that he had already obtained several hundred signatures, and that reports of the progress of the petitions in other cities indicated that all the amendments proposed would have sufficient support to win a place on the general election ballot.

The amendment proposals outlined by the Taxpayers association are as follows:

1. The general assembly shall not increase the total of the present rates for property taxes now levied for state purposes... except after the approval of the majority of the qualified electors voting thereon at a general election, or a special election called for the purpose.

2. The governor, treasurer and auditor of the state shall compose a budget board, and report all available revenues 30 days before any session of the legislature. The assembly shall not make appropriations in excess of the last report of the board.

3. No bill passed by the general assembly shall become a law unless the journal entries showing its passage in each house shall have been permanently made and reported to each house; and the journals showing its passage filed with the secretary of state.

4. Where a special election on a referendum measure is petitioned for on state measures under the initiative and Referendum Amendment, it is the duty of the governor to promptly call such election.

5. The compensation of judges of the supreme court shall be as now provided by law, and shall not be diminished.

6. No inheritance or death tax shall hereafter be levied on the estates of deceased persons, except on estates taxed by the United States government, and then not in excess of the amount of such federal taxes.

7. After the assessment and full payment of any general property, privilege or excise tax, no proceedings shall be brought or maintained for the reassessment of the value on which it is based, except for actual fraud of the taxpayer.

Searcy County Is A Republican Stronghold

ST. JOE, Ark., June 3.—(AP)—Searcy county is a good place to acquire the other fellow's point of view, politically speaking, in Arkansas.

Here is a Republican stronghold in a state otherwise decidedly Democratic in its politics. The Republican here can get that sense of power but makes the Democratic nomination in other counties of the state tantamount to election. The Democrat here can tell how it feels to be a member of the sensitive minority, a position Republicans occupy in practically every other county in the state.

So far this campaign, Republicans in Searcy county have been adding daily to the roster for state and county office in the August primary campaign, while no Democrats have filed for office.

Attempt Is Made on Life of Woman

Would-Be-Killer Fires Two Shots Into Bedroom Window

Chicago, June 3.—(AP)—An attempt was made early today on the life of Mrs. Lotte Brunen DeChow, the elderly woman who brought a perjury charge against her young husband, the self-styled Count Von Bulow, who is alleged to have married her under an assumed name.

The would-be killer fired two shots through her bedroom window, striking her bed. The assassin climbed to the roof of a garage where he placed a gun at the bedroom window, and fired two shots into her room.

Mrs. DeChow, 55, had arisen five minutes earlier and had gone into the chamber of her sister, May Gross, who's husband was buried yesterday. It was while in her sister's room she heard the shots and hurried into her bedroom.

She is quoted as saying to police, "I am sure Henry wouldn't do it. He traveled around with me and spent my money, but I don't believe he would be that vicious."

T. Horrellson, business manager.

Bodenhamer Makes Visit to El Dorado

EL DORADO, June 3.—Maj. C. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the American Legion, was a visitor here Monday for a short time before filling several speaking engagements in Missouri. He was elated over news that the Reed-Snell bill had been passed by the Senate. The measure provides for universal draft in time of war, and was supported by the Legion for three or four years.

Hoover Says Congress Unwise In Vetoing Bill

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—President Hoover said he had not changed his opinion on the Spanish-American War veterans pension bill which was enacted over his veto yesterday by congress. He said it was an unwise thing to do.

Grave Contains Over-Ripe Eggs

MODESTO, Calif., June 3.—Dave Bishop, tender of a bridge on the San Joaquin river not far from where three men were killed in cold blood by an itinerant laborer on April 28, found what looked like a new grave near the bridge.

He hurried to the telephone and summoned deputy sheriffs. When the "grave" was opened it was found to contain several dozen incubator turkey eggs a farmer had buried after they reached a ripe old age without producing turkeys.

Democrats Urge Action On Tariff

Walsh and Dill Demand Early Disposition of Pending Bill

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Two Democratic senators, one from the Northwest and the other from New England, joined in a demand in the Senate today that speedy disposition be made of the tariff bill.

Democratic leaders, however, disclaiming any attempt unduly to delay action, pointed out that the two conference reports materially changed the Senate and House bills and served notice that they would be discussed fully. A vote is not expected before the latter part of the week.

As soon as Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, called up the second report, covering only half a dozen important provisions, including the new flexible clause, Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, demanded an immediate vote without further debate.

"There is such a thing as the saturation point in Senate debate, and that point has been reached on this bill," Dill said.

Sensor Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, joined in urging "reasonable haste."

Harrison Objects
Objecting to a vote before the manifesto compromises reached in conference were debated, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, said the "Senate and the country were entitled to know what was done in conference and what is in the reports."

The Mississippi said he would discuss three phases of the measure and added "there will be no vote this week."

Senator Simmons of North Carolina leading minority conferee of the Senate, concurred in the requests for quick action, but said he wanted ample time given for discussion.

Will Open Campaign Headquarters This Week

LITTLE ROCK, June 3.—(AP)—Lamar Williamson, of Monticello, campaign manager for Governor Harvey Parnell, said today that the governor's campaign headquarters would open here the latter part of this week.

Mr. Williamson said he would arrive in Little Rock Saturday. He left this city for Monticello late this afternoon.

40 Lose Lives When Ship Boiler Explodes

BOGOTA, June 3.—(AP)—Forty bodies were recovered today following the sinking of a passenger steamship in the Matallana river yesterday after a boiler explosion. Thirty-five members of the crew were saved. Eleven of them were severely burned by fire following the explosion.

The vessel sunk immediately after the blast before aid could be summoned.

Local Farmers Will Study Bee Culture

Habits of Bees, Subject of Program Here in July

Bee culture in Hempstead county is to become an important part of farm income, according to plans of leading agriculturists, who plan to meet at the State Experiment Farm here early in July for the purpose of studying modern methods.

A movement has been initiated by C. A. O'Neal, of 1001 East Division street, to bring farmers interested in bee culture to this meeting. The date is to be announced later. O. L. Olmstead, state bee culture expert from the University, is to give a lecture. County Agent Lynn Smith will take an active part in the movement. Dinner is to be served on the ground on this occasion, which will be an all-day event. Several swarms of bees are to be transferred into new and modern hives for the benefit of the visitors.

"The culture of bees for profit is an intensely interesting pursuit," says Mr. O'Neal, who produces considerable honey for market. "To secure the best product," he says, "we transfer any hive of bees into modern hives. This gum has a special compartment for the production of commercial honey, the top of the hive. All but honey bees are kept from this compartment by means of a special bee screen. The honey is then easily removed from this section. Any

Cannon Declines Answer Question Before Committee

Walsh Asks Question Concerning Anti-Smith Meeting

MAY BE PUNISHED

Bishop Also Quizzed About Temperance Organizations

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., today flatly declined before the senate lobby committee to answer a question about his political activities in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, in adjourning the committee informed the Bishop that he "had taken responsibility when he declined to answer his question."

Cannon replied to the committee investigating his "persecution." This stirred the crowded committee room into laughter, applause and "hisses." Just previously the Bishop charged that a wet and a Roman Catholic had tried to discredit him. Walsh is a Catholic and a dry.

For more than two hours Walsh and Senator Blaine, republican of Wisconsin, had questioned Cannon which related to temperance organizations. The Bishop had answered freely as long as the questions related to Temperance organizations, but when he was asked about an Anti-Smith meeting, he first read a protest and then flatly declined to answer.

Walsh did not indicate what further action would be taken.

When a witness refuses to answer questions before a senate committee he may be punished in various ways.

M. E. Fahy, Camden Bank Cashier, Dies

CAMDEN, Ark., June 3.—M. E. Fahy, 71, cashier of the First National Bank, one of the most prominent citizens of Camden, died at his home here Monday.

He had been cashier of the First National Bank since 1914. Previous to that time he was bookkeeper of the bank.

Mr. Fahy is best known for his career on river steamers operating between Camden and New Orleans years ago.

He was born November 5, 1858, at Monroe, La. At 21 he began his career on the river. He was clerk on many steamers plying the Ouachita and Mississippi and was in river work for 29 years. His river days scrap book is without parallel in this section. He came to Camden in 1903 to work for the bank.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Edward and Elmore Fahy, and one sister, Mrs. S. G. Texada, of Alexandria, La.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at St. Louis Roman Catholic church, with Rev. Otto Butterback in charge.

Elks Announce Dance To Be Staged June 20

The Elks Lodge today announced a home coming dance to be staged at their home on North Elm street. For the occasion the DeLuxe Night Hawks, Shreveport orchestra, has been engaged to furnish music.

The committee in charge is composed of the following: Talbot Feild, Dr. T. L. McDonald, C. E. Taylor, O. F. Ruggles, J. W. Strickland, C. B. Llawhorn, Jimmie Cook and Speedy Hutson.

Business Is Bombing In Chicago

Two persons were injured and lives of ten others endangered when a bomb was thrown into the vestibule of a building occupied by John Galandak, Chicago coal dealer, wrecking the apartments of other tenants as well. This picture shows Florence Currie, Galandak's neighbor, mourning over her wrecked piano.

Graf Speeding Across Atlantic

German Zeppelin Reported 780 Miles From New York at 9:12 a. m.

(By Associated Press)
Homeward bound, the Graf Zeppelin was speeding east today over the North Atlantic at a pace of approximately ninety miles an hour, taking off at the naval station at Lakehurst, N. J., at 9:12 (E. S. T.) last night, she was reported at a position 12 hours later at 40:18 north, 57:30 west, approximately 780 miles due east of New York city.

From 5 to 9 a. m. she had traveled 358 miles, which was an average speed of 69.7 miles per hour. Her first stop on her homeward journey will be at Weville.

Phillies Release Grover Alexander

"Old Pete," Once Great Ball Player, May Quit National Pastime

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran base ball pitcher—probably one of the best in the National league during his day, may have come to the end of his career in the major leagues with the announcement made by the Philadelphia National League club today that "Old Pete" has been unconditionally released.

"We are sorry to let Alex go," said Gerald Nugent, business manager of the Phillies, "but he is no help to us, and Manager Bert Shotton decided it was useless to carry him any longer."

"We are going to help Alex land a job wherever he wants to go, and see to it that he gets along until he locates. Pete hopes to land a job on the Pacific Coast league. He says that he would like to pitch a little longer before turning to a job as coach."

Beer 150 Years Old Is Found Behind Wall

WORCESTER, England, June 3.—A bottle, about 150 years old, have been discovered at Sudeley Castle, near here.

These bottles of old time luxury were found during restoration operations, bricked up behind one of the solid stone walls of the castle where Queen Katherine Parr, the only one of the Henry VIII's six wives to survive him, is buried. The beer was tasted and found to be in perfect condition.

Nearsighted Husband Grabs Wrong Woman

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 3.—Rita Beck, 18, was riding along Concord street in an automobile when a man leaped onto the running-board and grabbed her by the throat.

Suddenly the man, Martin Beshbetarian, 30, released her and said, apologetically, "Oh, forgive me, I thought you were my wife."

In court Beshbetarian explained that he was near-sighted.

Bicycle For Two Is Listed As Hazardous

BOSTON, June 3.—The bicycle built for two, that vehicle which spread delight all through the Gay Nineties, has been officially frowned upon by the Massachusetts Governor's committee on street and highway safety. The tandem machine has no place in the motor age and constitutes a high hazard, the committee ruled in issuing a list of "Don'ts" in connection with a revival of the bicycling craze in Massachusetts.

Hot Springs to Be Host To Druggists

State Association Will Meet June 10—John Cox on Program

HOT SPRINGS, June 3.—Hundreds of druggists are expected here for the annual Arkansas Pharmaceutical Association, June 10, 11 and 12, it is said by George E. Schneek, general convention chairman, in charge of arrangements. The Arlington hotel will be convention headquarters. Highlights of the convention will be addressed by Dr. Stanley L. Krohn of New York city, president of the American Institute of Mercantile Arts and Tom Roach of Oklahoma City, president of the National Association of Retail Druggists. There will be a banquet with cabaret features, followed by a dance at the Kingsway hotel. Other entertainment features include the annual banquet at the hotel, followed by a dance.

There will be a garden party and a bridge luncheon for the women at the Kingsway.

Alleged Slayer Is Held At Texarkana

TEXARKANA, June 3.—Leon Barton, 22, was lodged in the Miller county jail Monday, charged with murder in connection with the death of Clyde Pilgreen, 23, who was wounded fatally at the home of Mrs. Helen Combs, near Fort Lynn, 20 miles south of here, last night.

Barton was found at his home asleep hours after the shooting. It is said the two men quarreled about a woman. Barton first struck Pilgreen with a pistol and then shot him. Pilgreen died on route to a Texarkana hospital. Barton told officers he was drunk and remembered nothing about the shooting. Pilgreen is survived by his wife and one child.

Long Separated Brothers Meet In Police Station

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 3.—"Where's your license and registration?" was the routine demand of Desk Sergeant Cyrus Bruce as a stranger strolled into police headquarters.

The visitor stared at the officer in amazement.

"I'm your long-lost brother," he exclaimed.

The stranger proved to be Donald M. Bruce, who had been separated from his brother for 21 years.

Insane Criminals Make Escape From State Institution

Imprison Two Guards And Threaten Life of Night Superintendent

THIRTEEN BREAK

Inmates Open Cell Doors Relieve Twenty-four Other Prisoners

TONIA, Mich., June 3.—(AP)—Thirteen insane criminals, five of them slayers, armed with knives and razors imprisoned two guards, threatened the night superintendent with death and escaped from the state hospital for criminal insane here early today.

Two of the fugitives were recaptured on highways a few miles from the institution within a few hours, while city and county officials engaged in a wide-spread search for the others.

Before leaving the institution the inmates opened cell doors releasing 24 prisoners, but none of the others joined in the break. They also cut telephone wires during their escape.

Dr. Perry C. Robertson, superintendent of the hospital, believed the break was the responsibility of the inmates, which made necessary all men with dangerous reputations to be housed in one ward, rather than in separate cells.

To Push Work On Bridge Approaches

Garland City Project May Be Completed In July

TEXARKANA, June 3.—Steps were taken today to push forward the new Garland City bridge across the Red river are ready for use when the bridge is completed some time in July were initiated at the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon. Right of way has been secured and preliminary approaches probably will be completed on the Lafayette county side of the river by the time the bridge is finished, but all of the right of way has not been secured on the Miller county side of the river. Henry Moore, Jr., was named to work on the matter with authority to choose other members of the board to aid if necessary.

A committee composed of John W. Wheeler, R. L. Alardycie, W. D. Arens, J. W. Dawson, J. R. Gunter, K. V. Harris, L. S. Kennedy, Josh Logan, W. A. McCartney, M. D. Tilton and C. H. Wright was named to undertake the advancement of the day's creek drainage project.

Studying the Campaign

THE words of Lee Cazort upon his retirement from the gubernatorial campaign—"I do not believe any voter can honestly say at present just which candidate he is for"—keep ringing in our ears.

Brooks Hays charges that Governor Parnell and his highway machine dominate the state. Judge Sheffield says Hays is merely another machine-man representing the Tom Terral-Steel faction trying to get back in power. Parnell says nothing; but John S. Parks, the Fort Smith member of the State Highway Commission, tells critics of the road program that if they are looking for war they will get it. Everybody is talking—but nobody has said anything except a lot of delightful generalities.

The next sixty days will tell the story. That the issues are constantly changing, bringing up entirely new angles each week, is illustrated by a Supreme Court suit reported Sunday morning by the Associated Press. Twenty-six road district claims arising from old bonded roads in Howard and Sevier counties, totalling three hundred thousand dollars, were recently ordered paid by the State Highway Commission in a decision in Pulaski circuit court. The Commission has appealed to the Supreme Court on the grounds that vision of the Martineau act in order to stabilize its road.

Here is an interesting case—for we have heard so much about road construction under the Martineau act that we have almost forgotten its provisions for lifting the crushing burden of road taxation off the land.
Yet this is a powerful political consideration the night before the voter goes to the ballot box. There has been some revision of the Martineau act in order to stabilize its road construction feature, but it still remains the most remarkable and sensitively-balanced law in the modern history of Arkansas. For at one and the same time it guaranteed the debts of the bonded counties, and provided immediate highway construction in the counties that were unbonded. Its forerunner, the Harrelson road act, was the strongest and most popular highway law in the history of the state. The Martineau act seems to have gained even greater strength—but it offers some confusing political problems to be worked out between now and election day.

If the election really hinges upon the highway program, then apparently it will produce a two-fold issue. The issue in the unbonded counties will be, how many miles of new road has the Commission built; and in the bonded counties, how much has the Commission relieved the land of road taxes.

What we are trying to get is a picture of the candidates' faces as they study these issues and compare notes on the political situation in seventy-five different counties, bonded, unbonded and indifferent.

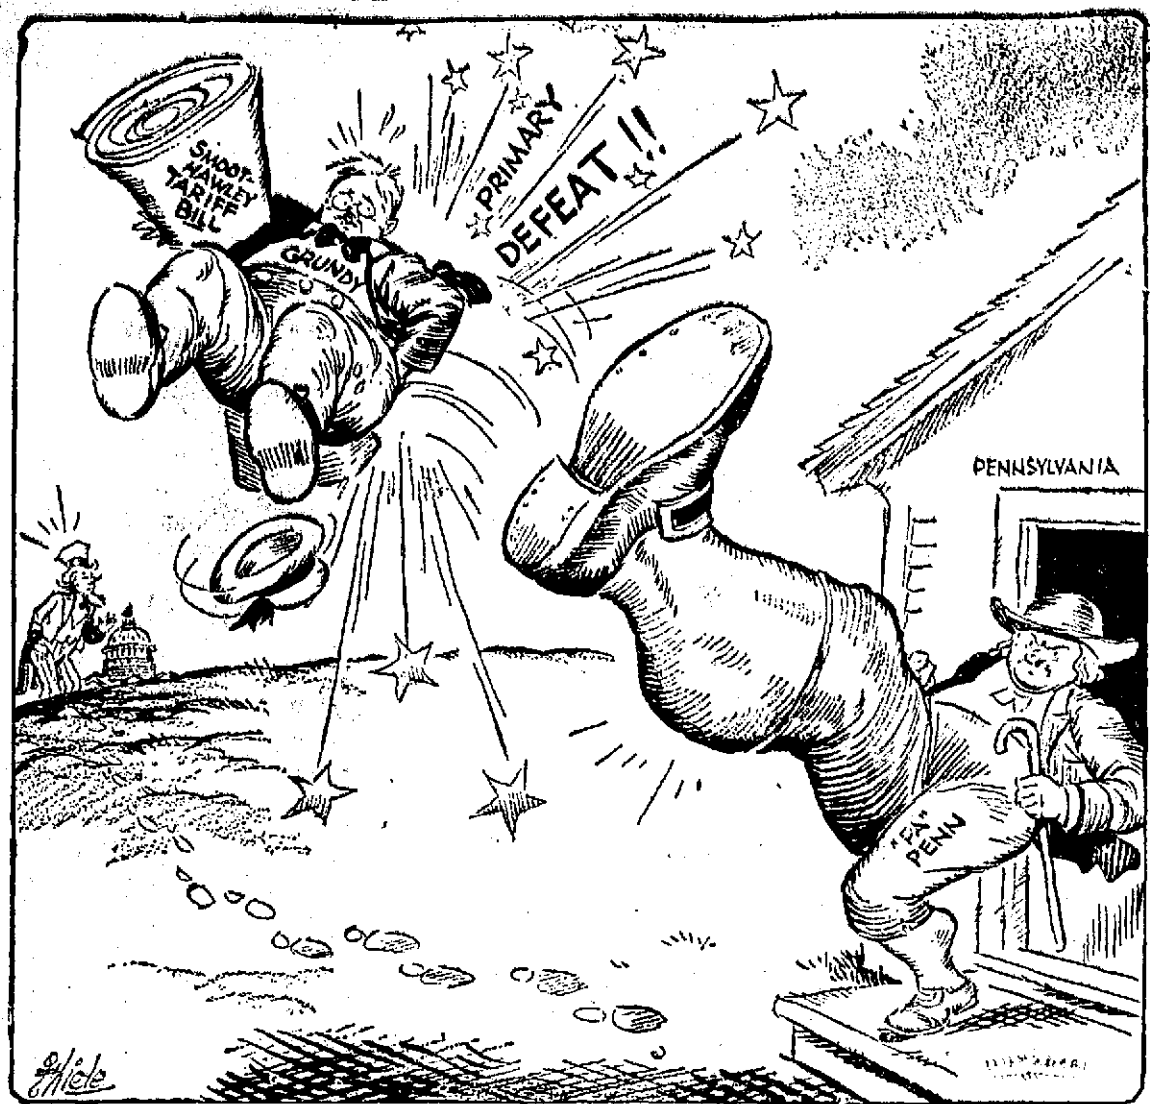

Springdale Raps Hays

THAT Brooks Hays, by his attack on the state highway commission, has alienated the friendship of a lot of people who had been disposed to support him in his aspirations for governor, is evident to every one, says the Springdale News. At least that is the situation in this section, judging from expressions heard, the News continues. Mr. Hays made a splendid showing in his race two years ago, and during the campaign made many friends who hoped to have the opportunity of supporting him at some future time.

The people of this section are more interested in seeing the road building program continue without interruption than they are in the political aspirations of any candidate for governor. Mr. Hays promises, if elected governor, to continue the highway program, but at the same time he proposes to disrupt the organization by electing members of the highway commission by a vote every two years. This would inevitably result in making the state highway program a football for the politicians in every campaign. During his incumbency Governor Martineau, with the assistance of the legislature, worked out a highway program, and this program has been continued during the administration of Governor Parnell. The result is that permanent highways are being built in every section of Arkansas, and without any direct tax on the people.

The people of Northwest Arkansas have confidence in the ability and integrity of J. S. Parks of Fort Smith, member of the state highway commission, and will not agree with Mr. Hays in the charge that he is more interested in carrying on political activities than he is in looking after his duties as a member of the highway commission. The News has found much in Mr. Hays to admire, and had hoped to be able to support him for governor this year, but we will not lend our support to any candidate who seeks to drag our highways into politics.

The Prodigal Son and the "Fatted Calf"!

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Plenty of things happen which interest everyone in Washington, but which are never heard of outside. Lately the people of the capital, including statesmen and legislators who don't mind saving a few dimes, have been excited over a taxicab rate war. Cab-rates have gone so low that Washingtonians have had a taxi ride for the first time in their lives.

The streets are full of 35-cent cabs. Taxi rides that used to cost a dollar or more over 40 or 50 blocks can now be had in fivers for 35 cents. Generally speaking, you can ride almost anywhere in the District of Columbia for that price. Before someone decided that money could be made toting passengers at the flat 35-cent rate Washington wasn't much of a taxi town, but so many small companies have sprung up in the last two or three months and so many individual car owners have suddenly entered the business that there is now perhaps as much proportional cab-riding here as anywhere.

Old Rates Were High
Before this all began there were two large cab companies, holding the railroad station and hotel concessions and operating at 25 cents for the first two-fifths of a mile and 10 cents for each additional two-fifths. They still do. There was a third company, the Diamond, operating at 15 cents for the first two-fifths and 10 cents for each additional two-fifths, with some small independents using the same rate.

Recently as the 35-cent competition forced more and more of the old cabs into garages, the directors of the Diamond voted to adopt the flat 35-cent rate. At the same time they warned that so much increased speed would be necessary that more accidents were reasonably sure to result. Officials replied that speeding taxi drivers would have their licenses taken away. Meanwhile, most Washington taxi users are riding speedily and economically and the old cab companies are demanding congressional intervention.

AND if you want to know how people here can save pennies just ask the fellows who run the Senate restaurant. They have had to cut prices on the popular brands of cigarettes from 15 cents straight to two for a quarter. Sales have fallen off seriously because patrons were buying their cigarettes at the bottom rate in chain stores down town.

IN case your local malt and hops stores have been closed as a result of the recent supreme court decision, you can still stock up on bottles, caps, gin, rum and whisky flavorings, siphons, crocks, etc., in stores operating in Washington. Since the court ruled that such material might be seized when obviously displayed to encourage law violations sales have been especially heavy, as if home brewers thought it advisable to lay in large stocks in case the supply were cut off.

Customers are now given a printed card which says: "It is expressly understood and agreed that all merchandise sold here is to be used for legal and nonalcoholic purposes only. The buyer assumes and guarantees that said merchandise will be used according to the above specifications, by his or their purchase or contract."

Dance Revue at Saenger Tonight

Pauline Harris' Students To Present Spring Dance Revue

Novelty and originality feature Miss Pauline Harris' Spring Dance Revue, at the Saenger theatre tonight.

Lovers of the terpsichorean art will marvel at the ingenuity displayed by the young folks. Among the older pupils who delight and charm are: Miss Joy Grey in a novelty tap dance; Miss Joy Ramsey who appeared last Christmas in a new and novel acrobatic number. Marilyn McRae in a difficult toe dance lends a touch of distinction to the program.

Martha Elizabeth Anderson, of Texarkana, who appeared in last spring's revue, in a ballet-acrobatic number, graces the program with an old-fashioned toe dance. Mary Cornelia Holloway does a burlesque of the apache dance humorous and original. Patsy Ann Campbell in a song and dance number that charms; and last but not least, diminutive Betty Jane Allen in her own idea of the modern tap dance. The program augmented by ensemble and ballet numbers in which the entire class appears, add the novelty to balance out a program which will be enjoyed by everyone.

The report that the marines are making Nicaragua prosperous indicates that the natives and not the marines have the situation well in hand.

A newspaper editorial asks what has become of the custom in boxing circles of awarding the championship belt to the heavyweight king. Judging from recent championship affairs it would seem most of the contestants really are below the belt.

Though Sharkey and Schmeling, championship contenders, will fight for the benefit of the milk fund, you can depend upon it that they'll get the cream.

These three high ranking American naval officers delivered verbal broadsides against the London Treaty, in hearings before the Senate committees on Foreign Relations and on Naval Affairs, at Washington. They are Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson, top, superintendent of the Naval Academy and a former commander-in-chief of the fleet; Rear Admiral L. M. Nulton, center, commander of the First Naval District at Boston; and Rear Admiral R. E. Coontz, bottom, former Chief of Naval Operations.

Kiddies Club

For this coming Saturday at our meeting we are going to have something different in the way of a show for you members. There will be one of these funny cartoon called Wise Flies where the artist makes the flies do a lot of funny tricks all to the time of music.

Then there will a comedy called Hail the Princess. This sounds like it should be a good one.

The picture will be the Sea Bat, a lot of adventure on the ocean with plenty of excitement.

I think we will have some games if that is what you kids like, will try and get up some funny ones so all the members can have a good time.

Watch tomorrow's paper for the names of our members who are going to have their birthday party this coming Saturday, and if your name is not in there let me know so we can have your present for you.

OAKLAND

Come to the meeting at Oakland school house, nice drive on Highway No. 4 from Hope to Washington. Good singing services every night 7:45. Franchising by Lucille White, evangelist. The services are held out of doors the beautiful oak trees serving as a wonderful arbor. A good place to park. Come and bring your friends.

And what is so rare as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect days!
Then heaven tries earth if it be in tune,
And over her warm ear lays look, or whether we e hear life mummur, or see it glister;
Every cloud feels a stir of might;
An instinct within it that reaches and towers,
And groping blindly above it for light
Climbs to a soul in grass and flowers.
Joy comes, grief goes, we know not how;
Everything is happy now,
'Tis as easy now for the heart to be true
As the grass to be green or skies to be blue—
'Tis the natural way of living.

"The Florodora Girl"
Has Quaint Romance

When Marion Davies' new starring vehicle, "The Florodora Girl," opens today at the Saenger theatre, the modern generation will be given an opportunity to see how their parents and grandparents dress and acted in the days when the 21-story Flatiron building was considered a skyscraper of awesome proportions.

The picture filmed from an original story by Gene Markey depicts the romance of one of the famous "Florodora Sextette" and revives such ghosts of the picturesque past as the bustle
the miff, the plumed hat, the petticoat, the sidewalk-sweeping train, red flannels and the voluminous costumes fastened at the rear by hooks and eyes.

The Husband Hunter

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

NATALIE CONVERSE, jealous of her husband's relationship with BERNADINE LAMONT, leaves him. ALAN seeks consolation with his secretary, PHILLIP WEST, who has cleverly managed to become engaged to him.

Natalie returns, and Alan realizes that he loves her, but his engagement with Phillip prevents him from attempting a reconciliation. He asks Phillip to release him, but she refuses, and makes an effective appeal to his pity.

Natalie's sister, FLORENCE, takes an illness to bring him back to his home, but Phillip still stands between them. Florence departs, hoping they will get along better if left to themselves. Natalie makes a visit to Alan's office and there meets BERNADINE, who is seeking business advice. Natalie's old jealousy flares up again, and she quarrels bitterly with Alan.

Alan goes to Phillip's apartment for dinner, afterward spending the night at a hotel. The next day Natalie comes to the office to plead for forgiveness, but Alan is hurt. He telephones and Phillip does not tell him that Natalie is there.

Phillip, fearful Alan's anger will not endure, uses a letter from BERNADINE in a plot to discredit Natalie. She changes the name of a stock BERNADINE wants to one that is worthless. BERNADINE comes to the office after the order has gone through, and learns that she has lost money she could ill afford to part with. Alan is angry with her, but she tells him she has bought the wrong stock and sends for her letter to prove that she had followed her instructions.

BERNADINE discovers the change that was made in the letter and Alan starts an investigation to learn who had made it. Suspicion is directed by Phillip, points to Natalie. Alan believes her guilty and goes up to Hillshire to ask her why she had done it.

CHAPTER XL

NATALIE'S lips stiffly framed the inevitable question. "Do what, Alan?"

He answered with a sneer: "Yes, I suppose I may expect you to try and bluff it out."

His laughing brown eyes were now like dark agate, glinting coldly at her.

"I am not bluffing, Alan," she said simply: "You will have to tell me what you mean."

Alan laughed, shortly, contemptuously. "Going to see it through along that line, are you? Innocence accused. Very well, then, let's bring it out in the open and see what comes of it. I mean why did you change the name of the stock in that letter?"

Natalie stared at him uncomprehendingly. Had he been even a little less inflamed with anger, he could have judged her expression with enough accuracy to know she was not simulating it. As it was, he thought she had made up her mind to carry her bluff to the end and be rejected by becoming more infuriated.

"Why don't you deny it?" he demanded fiercely, as her gaze remained upon his face, unchanging, fascinated.

Natalie merely shook her head. She was beginning to be afraid of him.

"What kind of woman are you, anyway?" he raved. "Jealous? Jealous! Jealous! Beastly jealous. And you had to pick on a woman who has never done you a bit of harm. A woman who is sick, the sole support of a kid whose father died to make the country safe for people like you—so you can cheat and rob his widow."

His wild words beat on her ears like blows, and the hollow, bitter laughter that followed them was like an echo of some faraway sound. His denunciation numbed her with its shocking violence.

Could this be Alan torturing her so? She scarcely could think. Let her? Let her? Let her? Why was he talking about a letter? The word, tormenting her brain, escaped from her lips in a weak utterance.

"That's right, BERNADINE's letter," Alan thrust at her. "Come on, tell me, why did you do it?"

He advanced toward her, his lips twisting in his passion of temper. Natalie shrank back from him, visibly frightened.

"You deserve it," he snarled. "I ought to choke you, but I've got to save my hands for cleaner work. I've got to work, do your underhand, and make up for your mischief."

His bloodshot eyes bored threateningly into her own feverish ones, but his half-raised hands dropped to his sides.

Natalie's face, aside from her burning eyes, seemed dead.

"You haven't any defense, have you?" he taunted her. "Not a thing to say. Well, you're wise to keep quiet. God, I couldn't stand to hear you deny it! I've had enough of your saintliness that covers the cheapest kind of soul. But if you think you've a chance to hide under silence, just listen. I know what you did, all right."

"You came into my office when I was out and got hold of Mrs. Lamont's letter. It gave you your chance. You saw what you could do, but here's where you made your big mistake. You thought you would cause her to lose a pretty penny, but you're wrong. It's me you've damned near ruined."

He swept his arms in a circle to indicate the room. "All this," he said savagely. "Background! That's what you call it. But to me it's my earnings. Oh, yes, I could always make more—you knew that—it was never hard for me to make money. But what's become of it? We've saved precious little. And now, now I've got to make good what you tried to steal from BERNADINE. You know what that means, don't you?"

Natalie continued to stare stupidly at his furiously contorted mouth and reddened eyes. Her attitude drove him frantic.

"Why don't you say something?" he yelled at her, unimpressed by the inconsistency he was showing.

Still she did not speak, though her head moved a little in a pitiful, sidewise motion and the numbness partially left her bloodless lips.

"So," he raved on, "because you feedishly substituted a rotten stock for a good one in that letter, I've lost a small fortune." A grim laugh burst from his dry lips. "It wasn't so clever, was it, forgetting that I have a sense of honor even if you haven't? But the work was damned clever, I'll grant you that!"

It seemed now to Natalie that she must speak, must stop him, even though she had to answer blindly. For she only partly understood the nature of the charge he was bringing against her.

"Don't, don't, don't," she cried imploringly. "Oh, Alan, you can't believe that I would touch one of your letters? Surely you can't believe that? Why, I didn't even see a letter!"

"Never mind the high-minded stuff," he marled at her. "The time for that is past. It only makes what you've done more hideous. Look at you. White and gold and clean! You ought to be black, black, black! As black as hell! Oh, no, you wouldn't touch a letter that didn't belong to you. Look at your hands!"

His voice was stingingly sneering. "They're lovely, aren't they, your hands? Who'd ever think they could turn themselves to taking bread and butter out of a baby's mouth? Oh, no, you wouldn't touch a letter. You wouldn't erase the name BERNADINE wrote and put in one that's a joke on the market, would you? You didn't know that I'd fall for it because she got a tip from a man that even you know by his initials, did you? You haven't heard me mention him by them, have you?"

He broke off, breathless and panting.

Natalie's face was regaining its color under the smart of his words. She understood now. But not clearly. Her mind jumped to a false conclusion. BERNADINE had done this, she believed. How, she did not know—she would need time to think it out. But BERNADINE LAMONT had done it. She had used her genius for evil to turn Alan into a blind fool, a mad, blind fool. He was BERNADINE's now, heart, mind and soul.

Natalie told herself this with sickening despair. She saw that it was useless to try to convince him of her innocence at the present time. Perhaps—when his anger had abated—the thought held little of hope. A cold chill was creeping into the very core of her heart. Knowing how hateful was the thing Alan accused her of, she was beginning to feel that he could never have loved her, to believe, for one minute, that she would be guilty of such a crime.

Her soul seemed dying within her, as though his words lay upon it with crushing weight. She put out a hand and groped for physical support.

Alan laughed at her tottering progress to a chair. He did not know her sight had left her, that

Hero's Mother Decries War

Mrs. Ada Yerges of Columbia, O., above, is the most active pacifist in the first group of Gold Star Mothers to Make the pilgrimage to their sons' graves in France. Unlike many of the mothers who appeared satisfied that their sons had fought for an heroic cause, Mrs. Yerges decried war and even urged that toy shops quit selling war-like games.

The Truth In Milk

By W. H. WOODLEY

A noted writer has said "Females are deceivers ever" and if this be true, then the cow is the queen deceiver of all time, and if the sex is true, in the deception, then she has a wonderful gay time throughout the year that have past. Yet if the female is a deceiver, it is because men like to be deceived, and the deceiver practices by the cow throughout the year that have past.

Milk has long been known as nature's most perfect food, for it contains all the qualities that are essential for normal development and repair of the body. But where the milk has been deceived, or rather where the milk has been deceived, it is in the quality of the milk. The milk that is produced by a cow that has been deceived, or rather where the milk has been deceived, it is in the quality of the milk. The milk that is produced by a cow that has been deceived, or rather where the milk has been deceived, it is in the quality of the milk.

It has also been found out that a legume hay, when cut at the right time and when cured in such a way that the sun, wind, and rain do not kill its feed value, carries practically the same quality value for milk production as does pasture. But a legume hay which has been left out in the sun may not be any better feed than a poor grass hay although it may increase the milk flow. So if we can only insure the quality in milk through the feed given to the cow, it is well that we see that she has the kind of feed that she needs. If the man in the city depending on the milk set at his door for the normal and necessary growth of his boys and girls and can only get that growth through the feed by his milk man, he has a responsibility.

If the dairyman, depending on the sale of milk for a livelihood realizes that the quality of his product depends on the food he uses, he has a responsibility.

Man has thought the cow possessed powers that were super-human. She produces her milk in a perfect natural way from the feed she eats, and man to help her do the otherwise impossible. She is a very efficient machine in doing a certain piece of work, but the quality of the work is determined by the quality of the material furnished. Let us be fair with her.

Cowpeas Adapted To Late Planting

Cowpeas have for a long time been the leading legume hay crop in Arkansas. In recent years soybeans have gained in popularity as a hay crop and should replace cowpeas when planting is done not later than early June, cowpeas should be used in preference to soybeans, advises D. J. Burleson, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, Extension Service.

Bulletin No. 212 of the Arkansas Experiment Station gives results of experiments with cowpeas for seed and hay production. It was found that cowpeas on rich soil with a good supply of moisture run largely on vines, resulting in a good yield of hay, but very little seed. Early planted cowpeas should be in rows and cultivated on account of grass and weeds. Late planted cowpeas grow off more rapidly and it is safe to sow them solid or broadcast, preferably with a grain drill.

The Arkansas Experiment Station found that the leading varieties in seed production were Grot, New Era, Brown Sugar Crowder, Arlington, Whipoorwill, Black Unknown, Red Ripper, and Early Black.

Varieties leading in hay production were Brabham, Monetta, Iron, Warren's New Hybrid, Wonderful, Red Ripper, and Taylor.

Probably the best general purpose varieties for the Arkansas farmer are Grot, Brabham, New Era, Whipoorwill, and Iron. The Brabham and Iron are resistant to root-knot or nematode.

Birmingham Still Touchy About Limbs

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., June 3.—To most of the world a leg, whether it is sheathed in silk or wears a garter around its calf, is merely something to get somewhere on.

Not so in Birmingham! The good folks here can't even look at their own.

A few years ago the Watch Committee which supervises the city's morals reached the momentous decision that even though a leg was a thing of beauty, it had a devastating influence. Therefore, the bare leg was placed in the same category as the witch.

Pavlowa was compelled to trip over the stage with her famous supports covered by fleshings. Ordinary chorus girls were made to wear tights.

It appears the city had been saved from perdition. Troupers came back into the cities and told the story. Newspapers poked fun at the righteous citizens.

Finally the committee decided to reconsider its decision. It held a solemn inspection of a bare leg. After recovering from the shock that it contained nothing vicious the committee generously decided if other persons' legs were attractive, Birmingham citizens might have a look. It even ignored colored spectacles.

Then the "Mystic GardKen" a side-show of the National Trades Exhibition, displayed as the center of attraction a rustic bridge in a garden, which, by a mirror arrangement reflected back the legs of the persons crossing it.

The Watch committee raised its hands in horror, but said nothing. A police inspector, however, warned Lon Legatt, manager of the show, that unless the bridge was removed, the watch committee might close the entire show.

"It was sheer prudery," said T. J. Brooks, owner of the show. "The people could see little more than their knees."

Man Unable to Identify Himself, Lives Near Home

BROWN CITY, Mich., June 3.—The story of a man who wandered from his home in his youth and for 35 years lived within 40 miles of it, unable to communicate with grief-stricken relatives because he could neither read or write, was revealed here when Thomas Murray returned home, an old man with gray hair.

When he was only 25 years old Murray, who could pronounce just three words, "Yes," "No," and "Dave," his uncle's name, because of throat paralysis, wandered into a swamp near his home and never returned. The countryside was diligently searched for the speechless youth and his disappearance was widely advertised but no word was ever heard of him.

How long he lived in the swamp is not known but one day he appeared at a farm and made gestures indicating he was hungry. The kind-hearted farmer took pity on him and fed him but was unable to learn his identity because Murray never had learned to write.

Eventually he was taken to the county poor farm and there, only short distance from home and friends, Murray spent most of his life among strangers, the victim of his affliction.

Edward Murray, his nephew who was only seven years old when Murray disappeared and who vowed he would some day find his uncle, recently learned from a chance acquaintance that a speechless man was living at the county farm. He visited the place and recognized his long missing relative, who frantically signalled "Yes" when asked if he was

Thomas Murray.

Murray, now 51, was taken away to spend the remainder of his days at home with his family.

Texas U. Deans Compile Data On Living Costs

AUSTIN, Tex., June 3.—What it costs a university student to live is revealed by a compilation of approved student boarding houses and their rates, prepared by the deans of the University of Texas.

Thirty-nine of 116 boarding houses for men served meals and their rates run from $28.50 to $40 a month. Rates for rooms only run from $6 to $12 a month. The Little Campus Dormitory, operated under supervision has single rooms as low as $12 a term and double rooms as low as $18.

The cost for girls is slightly higher. Board and lodging for them range from $29.50 to $45 a month. Rooms alone are from $7.50 to $15 a month.

Ghost Writer—Well, finally I've achieved the ultimate in success as a writer.

Friend—And just what is that?

Ghost Writer—I've got another ghost-writer to do my ghost writing for me.

Admiral Gazoff observing his orderly in a line-up of culprits flared into rage. "Smythe," he snorted, "what in h— are you doing here?"

"Sir, replied Smyth, 'I was told to report for using profane language.'"

Little Willie was roused from his sleep by sounds on the roof. "Mama, I'm frightened!" he cried to his mother in the next room.

"Go back to sleep, dear," came the reassuring reply. "That's only daddy taking his shoes off before he sneaks in through the skylight. He's been airplaning home from the club."

Marvelous Work Of New Konjola Medicine Told

Briant's Drug Store To Introduce Advanced Remedy For First Time In Hope

If you were told that one single medicine put hundreds of men and women back to work in Chicago, Philadelphia and other large cities after they had been idle for months with health troubles, it would sound impossible, wouldn't it? And that countless people were completely relieved of rheumatism and neuritis and that they were able to walk again, without cane or crutches, and that this same medicine restored to health men and women who had suffered with stomach and kidney troubles for years, and that complete relief had come in cases of misery where health resorts, expensive treatments and medicine upon medicine had failed—indeed, it seems impossible! Yet it is all true, and the medicine that has done all these things is the new Konjola which is being introduced, starting today at the Briant Drug Store, this city.

G. H. MOSBY
Discoverer of Konjola

Wherever introduced, this Konjola is vastly different and more effective than any previously known medicine. It is a remarkable liquid compound for the following well-known troubles:

RHEUMATISM: Especially severe cases, where pains are intense, muscles swollen, joints stiff and rigid. In the milder cases of this disease, Konjola relieves almost at once, and this medicine brings the same results to the neuritis victim that it does for the rheumatic sufferers.

STOMACH, LIVER, KIDNEYS AND BOWEL TROUBLES: Nearly all forms of misery that arise from those unhealthy organs have been so quickly relieved by Konjola that men and women sufferers everywhere were surprised. It is the action of this medicine on the organs of the inner-system that removes toxic poisons from the system and brings quick relief in so many cases. The secret of this Konjola is the way it acts on the important functional organs of the body, namely: the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. So many diseases and long standing disorders of these organs were so completely conquered and entirely banished by this new compound that thousands of people in larger cities were able to give up taking medicine for some time to come.

After the great accomplishments and wonderful work of Konjola in other sections, it is declared that this medicine is what hundreds of sufferers in Hope and vicinity have long needed to actually reach their cases, and preparations are being made to introduce Konjola for the first time at the Briant Drug Store, where this medicine will be sold and explained to the public daily.

STOMACH UPSET, THEN HEADACHE

Thedford's Black-Draught Relieves These Symptoms, Says Carolina Lady.

West Asheville, N. C.—Mrs. Hannah Crook, of 128 Hudson Street, this city, says that she has been acquainted with Thedford's Black-Draught from using it regularly, when needed, during the last ten years.

"I would have spells of indigestion," she explains. "My stomach would hurt and seem to be all upset. I did not relish my food. I would have a bad taste in my mouth; then I would take a headache and have to go to bed."

"I read about Black-Draught. I found it helped me when the headaches came on. I would take a few doses of Black-Draught and get easy. So now, when I feel the first symptoms, I begin with Black-Draught, and I find that by doing so I can keep off the headache, which I now do."

"Black-Draught certainly is a good medicine and will do what it is recommended to do."

The medicine which this lady mentions is recommended by thousands of others because of the benefit it has been to them.
